Synopsis:

CEREC is an amazing piece of kit and an asset to any dental practice. The digital workflow can be more efficient, more comfortable for the patient and have that wow factor. Learn about my journey with CEREC as I discuss its integration into my practice, my digital workflows for single tooth restoration and more complex smile makeovers. Used correctly this technology is fun, produces beautiful long-lasting restorations and profitable for your practice.

Learning Outcomes:

- Understand the digital workflow for single tooth posterior restorations.
- Understand the digital workflow for multiple anterior units using a smile design.
- Be able to choose the right ceramic block for your application.
- Understand the limitations of milled restorations.
- Profitability / return on investment for CEREC

Nick completed his first degree in science with a physiology major in 2007. He graduated from Otago Dental School with distinction in 2011. Nick entered private practice in Hastings as an associate dentist whilst also holding a contract with the Hawkes Bay DHB as an on-call dental house surgeon in the maxillofacial department. In 2015 Nick purchased a very tired single chair Hastings practice from a retiring dentist and quickly transformed it into Bay Dental Care - one of Hawkes Bays premier dental practices. Nick invested in CEREC in 2017. Bay Dental Care has two full time dentists and a skin therapist offering medical grade skin treatments.
